EXPERTISE:

The Angelic Team

2022 graduate from Hampton University Mykela Moore wrote her first book in the third grade and entered the 40th Annual Ezra Jack Keats competition and won. The two main characters are depictions of herself and her sister, Shawnise Kates, (who died of Lupus in 2013) With certifications in Microsoft Excel and Amazon Advertising along with her experiences with Brand and Digital Marketing. She founded our HBCU college tour Initiative For Us By Us Venus Knight-Moore is a meditation coach and author. Inspired by her own experiences with anxiety and trauma. She offers one-on-one meditation coaching for women and staff groups. Additionally, she is a certified special education teacher, teaching literacy to preschool children in a mental health facility. Embrace a mindful lifestyle for inner peace and balance. Angelic Kreation has initiated and developed solutions to help schools stay ahead of the curve when dealing with circumstantial, demographic and social elements that transcend the classroom. Ms. Yelverton's personal track record is one that provides impact programming in areas most educators within the system don't have the resources or capacity to effectively deal with. How can teachers teach if we have students that can't be reached? We work with students, parents and educators to resolve conflicts, improve character and enhance the institutional educational environment with evidence based programming
